Journal Questions

Directions: You can use the following questions for either discussions (in small groups or as a whole class) or written journal responses. Written response pages can be found on the next few pages.

1. Tessa loves diving and Mac loves art. What activity/hobby/sport do you love? Why do you enjoy this activity? Write out a perfect day focusing on this activity.
2. Memories are important to both Tessa and Mac. Choose a memory from your own life and write it in narrative form. Use five sensory details.
3. What is one way you manage big emotions? (talk to a friend/trusted adult, music, art, exercise, meditation, etc.)
4. Do you agree with the statement that MACKENZIE'S LAST RUN is not just about the survival of a boy but about the survival of a family? Why or why not?
5. Name one thing Mac could have done differently that would have significantly altered the story.
6. Is Mac the main character in this story? What about Tessa?
7. How did the setting of this story affect the plot? How would this story be different if it took place in another location (ie: desert or mountainous region) or another time (ie: past or future)? If you were writing a survival story, where would you set it and why?
8. What would you do differently in Mac's place? Would you start a fire?
9. If you knew Mac, do you think you'd want to be his friend? Why? Would you want to be Tessa's friend? Why? Do you think TJ was a good friend to Mac?
10. Do you think Mac would have had an easier time recovering if he hadn't seen the video of the mall shooting? Do you think Mac should delete the video?

Use this rubric to first communicate your writing expectations to students and then to evaluate the writing products they create. Students and/or peers can also use this rubric to self/peer score/evaluate the pieces of writing.

I assign 2 points if the task was completed and well done, 1 if the task was attempted but not mastered, and 0 if the task was not attempted at all.

Discussion Questions

Directions: You can use the following questions for discussions in individual reading conferences, partnerships, small groups or as a whole class. Note, some questions may be triggering. You know your students, class and community best. Choose questions you feel would best stimulate helpful, productive conversations in which all participants feel safe.

1. Why do you think this story is told from the points of view of both Tessa and Mac?
2. Do you understand why Mac blames himself for his father's death? Do you agree with him? Why or why not?
3. Do you think if Mac had confided in Tessa or Mom that he felt responsible for Dad's death it would have made a difference to how they went on as a family afterward? Why or why not?
4. Do you think MacKenzie's Last Run is a good title for this book? Why or why not?
5. There is only one true "bad guy" in this story. Who is it?
6. Why do you think Mac was so resistant to talking to the psychologist?
7. Why do you think Mac stopped painting?
8. Who is your favorite character—Tessa or Mac? Why?
9. Luck is referred to many times by both twins. Give two or more examples of good and bad luck as they occur in the novel and are experienced by one or the other of the twins.
10. Do you like Simon? Why or why not?
11. Do you think Mac will miss running?
12. Tessa notes how Mac's drawings make Dad look larger than life somehow and realizes that she thinks of her father that way too. Why do you think this is?
13. If you could change one thing in the novel, what would it be?
14. In what ways are Tessa and Mac alike and in what ways are they different?
15. Do you think you'd like to have a twin? Why or why not?
16. What resources are available in and out of school? Who can they go to and how can a student get connected with those resources?

Extension Activities

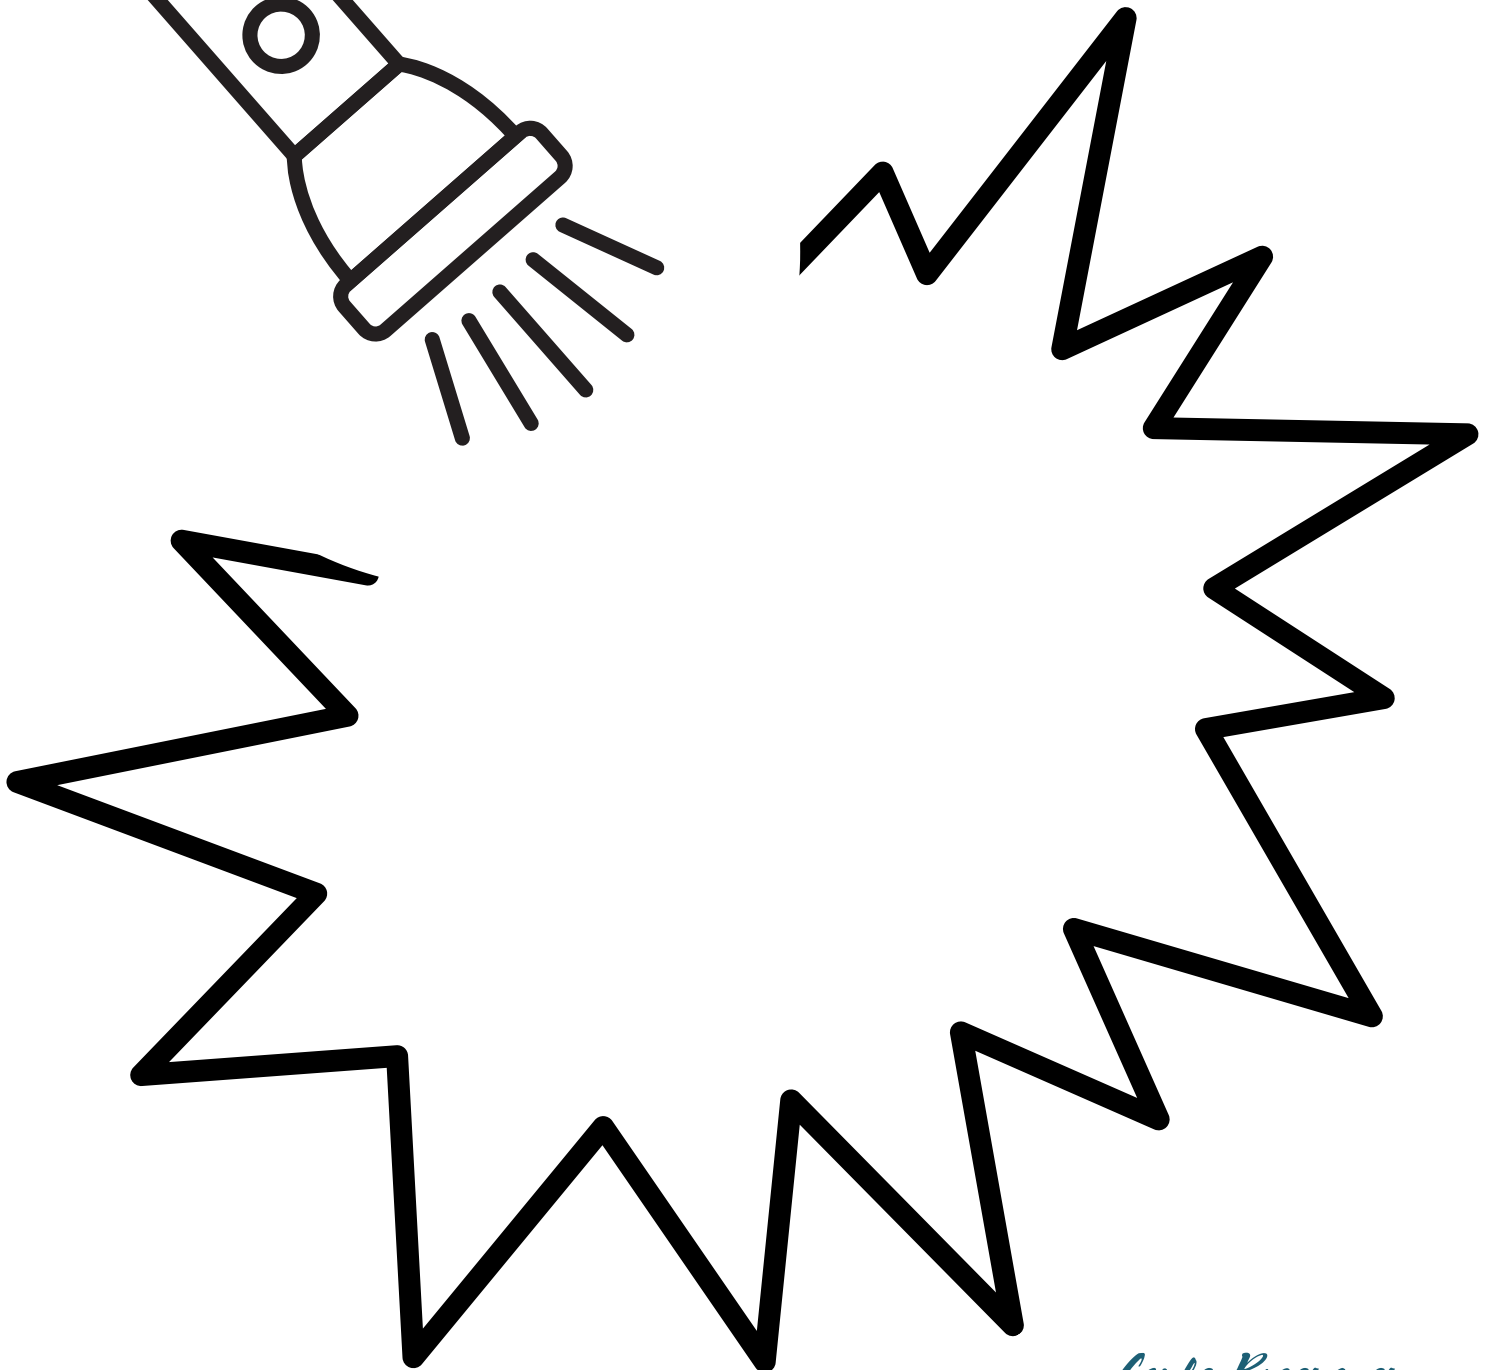

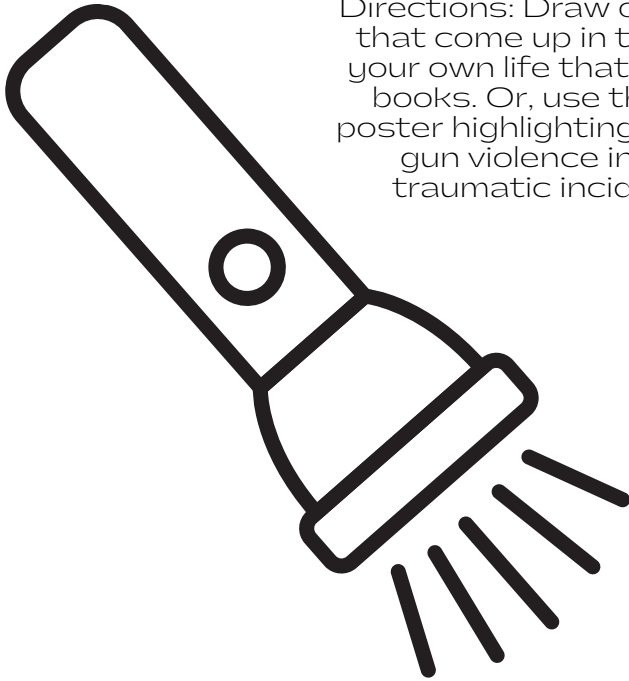

- 1 Invite a guest speaker into your classroom to share information with your students about any of the following topics: first aid and safety, survival skills, grief management and gun violence prevention.
- 2 Mac loves drawing. Do some of your own! Using YouTube as your art teacher, complete mini-drawing lessons as a brain break! Here is my favorite channel:
<https://www.youtube.com/c/ArtforKidsHub>
- 3 Design a new book cover for MacKenzie's Last Run that does more to involve Tessa's character. How can you include both characters in the images you showcase? What kind of font style and color pallet will you use to communicate the mood of the story?
- 4 For the author, Gayle Rosengren, an important aspect of this story is shining a light on gun violence and the ways in which it damages people, families and communities. Using the flashlight image on the next page, draw or write in other important issues that come up in this story, or important issues in your own life that you'd like to see talked about in books. Or, use this flashlight image to create a poster highlighting the importance of talking about gun violence in an effort to decrease these traumatic incidents in our schools and lives. (see activity sheet on next page)
- 5 Access this lesson created by PBS Wisconsin that focuses on talking with students about gun violence and facilitating activities that help them feel seen, protected, and informed.
<https://www.pbs.org/newshour/classroom/2022/05/lesson-plan-how-to-talk-as-a-classroom-about-gun-violence-in-schools/>
- 6 Revisit the pre-reading anticipation activity. Ask students if they would answer differently after reading the book.
